IN REPLY REFER TO:

To whom it may concern:

TRG Equipment Services performed reclamation work on three toxic mine sites in the fall of 2010. This project was not only sensitive due to being an abandon mercury mine site but the terrain was steep and hazardous.

Tom Gregory (owner of TRG Equipment Services) and his personnel were safety minded and efficient. Every morning started out with a safety and job description meeting given by Tom. All employees and personnel on site were informed of hazards and given a clear explanation of the work to be performed each day.

Communication was open and it was easy to work with TRG Equipment Services. The cooperative nature of Tom and his crew made field adjustments run smoothly.

TRG Equipment Services equipment was well maintained and clean before arriving to the job site. All employees were furnished with the proper safety gear for the mercury mine site reclamation site.

Tom and his crew are detailed oriented and went above and beyond to perform the reclamation work. TRG Equipment Services arrived to the job site prepared and fully supplied to perform the work. There were no delays and the work was completed before the deadline. TRG Equipment Services left the work site clean and left the smallest footprint possible.

I highly recommend TRG Equipment Services to perform any type of reclamation work of mine sites, excavation and erosion control. I am confident you will be as pleased as I am with the finished project.

Sincerely,
